The surface showing on the Cliff is better than on the United Verde, and the gossan cap covering it—the reliable indication of copper underneath—is the largest in the world. Pro-fessor Treadwell has always believed that the Cliff would prove a better mine than the United the foreign exchange market. Except for Verde, and his prediction is coming true.

The Cliff is only one of many mines in the Verde Belt that are owned by the Treadwell Company. The Brookshire Tunnel-from which copper water is already flowing so strong that the miners have to wear rubber gloves to protect themselves from it is likely to strike in about four hundred feet more a deposit just as good as the Cliff The Iron Queen is little, if any, behind the Cliff and Brookshire in importance, and numerous other mines owned by the Company have just as good surface showings and only need development to prove their values. The Company has altogether the greatest extent of carefully selected mining properties of any mining organization in the United States, outside of the Amalgamated Copper Company. the matter, has increased the difficulties of adjusting the present differences. There is a strong feeling on the part of the owners of the mines that their right to conduct their business as they see fit might as well be determined at once, and that the issue might better be fought out now during the slack season in the industry than in the fall, when the suspension might work serious hardship to many industries as well This morning's news regarding the action of the Executive Committee of the United Mine Workers had comparatively little effect upon prices. As usual, the event had been discounted. Reading issues, Erie common and Ontario and Western were dealt in on a very moderate scale and sustained net losses averaging not much more than a point. In common with the remainder of the list, the declines in them might have been attributed entirely to the local monetary situation as reflected in the weekly statement of averages of the Associated Banks. That statement was a surprise to the Street in that it showed a lose in lawful money nearly three times larger than the average of the various computaions of the known movements of money published yesterday. The loss of $6,000,000 n reserve is undoubtedly due in part to the correction of the last two previous statements. That of last Saturday was particularly wide of the facts in that it showed an increase in cash, whereas it is known that a considerable loss took place. It is possible that the cash resources of the Money is so comparatively easy abroad that local bankers with close European connections have no difficulty in extending their lines of credit | Cormania through the foreign exchange market. The present indications are that money will command a good price in this market for some time to come, even if there is no decided increase in the volume of speculation. This view is based upon the extraordinary activity in business all over the country and present prospects that this will be a good crop year. Relief will come to an extent from a falling off in Treasury absorptions after the close of the current fiscal year of the Government in consequence of the abolition of the internal revenue war taxes.
